Mrs. Miner Tells of Her
Married Life.

TESTIMONY IN HER SUIT

Divorce-Seeking Wife Tells of an Incredible Story of Cruelty.

A tale of abuse and cruelty was told on the witness stand in the Circuit Court yesterday by Mrs. Rose Miner during the progress of the trial of her divorce case against her husband, Dr. F. L. Miner. Mrs. Miner was on the stand for an hour and a half during that time she went over the whole period of her married life, telling of a course of cruel treatment at the hands of her husband which she said began within a year after their marriage and has continued during the thirteen years since they were married.

Mrs. Miner's story was in brief as follows: She married Dr. Miner in Leeds, England, in 1886 and they came to Honolulu within a year. Shortly after their arrival here they had slight tiffs, but the first serious trouble arose out of her going into the office one day while the doctor was treating a patient. At that time the doctor called his wife a fool and struck her again. In 1890 they went to Salinas. The doctor outfitted himself before leaving Honolulu and told his wife she might get her necessary clothing in San Francisco. When they arrived there Dr. Miner insisted on going at once to Salinas, and would not permit his wife to secure suitable dresses. This she considered cruelty. At Salinas they lived in a log cabin on a ranch and Mrs. Miner complained that the doctor would not allow her to procure help, but made her do all the work with the assistance of the nurse, who was supposed to have the care of the little child, Gladys, who was then but 14 months old.

Mrs. Miner stayed at Salinas for a time and then she left for San Francisco, being unable to stand the life there. Her husband followed her to San Francisco and there they made up their differences. They came back to Honolulu in 1892 and trouble arose shortly after their return over money matters. Dr. Miner refused to allow his wife sufficient money to clothe herself properly, although at that time he was receiving the income from her personal estate, which was about $24 per month. When Mrs. Miner used any of the money allowed her for household expenses for any other purpose he accused her of deceiving and even of stealing.

In 1893 they had a difficulty over the linen, which resulted in an attack on Mrs. Miner by the doctor, so she said, wherein he struck her and called her a wicked woman and struck her. Mrs. Miner told him while she was at her home in England that she must have the income from her estate for herself. Dr. Miner came back to the Islands without her and finally he agreed to her terms and she came home. On one occasion she used one of their quarrels Dr. Miner dragged her upstairs and stripped her to the waist and beat her over the shoulders with a stick, according to the story told by Mrs. Miner.

The child Gladys was also a victim of the doctor's ungovernable temper. Mrs. Miner said. Once when he had a caller Dr. Miner came out of his office after Gladys had gone to bed and found the veranda littered with the child's toys. He promptly ran upstairs and dragged the child out of bed and brought her downstairs and made her clean up the toys. Again Gladys could not be left alone and was correctly kicked. One Christmas eve when they were having a Christmas tree, Gladys accidentally knocked over a vase. Her father took her out of bed after all the guests were gone and when her mother sent her back he took the child by the shoulders and used a heavy flesh brush on her.

Other witnesses yesterday for Mrs. Miner were Mrs. J. M. Oat, who was present when some of the trouble between Dr. and Mrs. Miner had occurred; Mrs. Dr. Derby, who lived next door and caught echoes of their family jars; Dr. Day, who treated Mrs. Miner for an injury she said was inflicted on her by her husband, and two Portuguese servant girls.

Mrs. Miner will be recalled to the stand this morning.

The contempt proceeding against Attorney L. M. Strauss came up yesterday before Judge Humphreys in the Circuit Court correctly he kicked her. Friday next owing to the fact that the Miner divorce case was still on trial. Strauss filed his answer to the citation and in it he states that the only connection he had with the Andre divorce case was to collect alimony. He denied all knowledge of the transaction which several witnesses have sworn to in affidavits presented last week.

Charles Downing, who was acquitted of the murder of George Poal last week, was in court yesterday morning on the charge of assault, which arose out of the same case as the Poal case. He was dismissed of all blame, the prosecution entering nolle prosequi in each case.

William McCarthy, the crimp, will not have to answer to the charge of assault and battery preferred some time ago by Turk, the crimp who has gone to San Francisco. His case was dismissed yesterday.

GAMBLERS WERE FINED.

Orientals Caught in the Act Pay for Their Fun.

Fifty-one cases were dealt with in yesterday's District Court of which number a batch of Orientals to the number of twenty-five pleaded guilty to the charge of gambling.

The offenders were arrested while participating in a game of palkow or dominoes.

Judge Wilcox taxed the crowd $5 and costs apiece.

WILCOX UNCERTIFICATED.

Fardy Election Returns Delay Delegate's Sailing.

R. W. Wilcox, delegate-elect to Washington, will hardly go away tomorrow as he expected. He has not yet received his certificate from Governor Dole as there are yet some precincts to be heard from. Yesterday Mr. Wilcox said that if he does not go by the Zealandia, he may take the Aorangi to Vancouver.

The issue which the Honolulu Independents intended to give in honor of their delegate last Saturday has been postponed until the day before his departure. In the evening a torchlight procession and a ratification meeting will be held. This was decided upon by those who had the matter in charge yesterday.

Two election precincts were heard from yesterday morning—one from Niihau and two from Maui. There are yet two precincts on Kauai, two on Hawaii and one on Maui to heard from.
